Inside the Data

Fisher UK carried out the calculations below showing the difference between average earnings of employees who identify as men and women in our UK workforce in accordance with the Gender Pay Reporting under the Equality Act 2010 (Gender Pay Gap Information) Regulations 2017. Such data is confirmed accurate as of April 2023 and will be published on our website and the applicable government website by 4 April 2024 for three years.

The results were clear: Fisher UK embodied our pledge to provide equal pay for equal work. In every part of our business, employees in the same role, at the same job level, with the same performance, and with the same experience level are paid the same regardless of their gender identity (e.g. male or female).

The gender pay gap shows the difference in average pay of all women and all men, regardless of their role or seniority. That is not about equal pay. Equal pay means women and men receive equal pay for carrying out the same or equivalent role.

The broader Financial Services industry has long suffered from an underrepresentation of women in the workforce. As of April 2023, men made up approximately 67.6% of our UK workforce and a large proportion of our senior leadership and highly-compensated sales personnel. We are working hard to overcome this industry-wide challenge and are determined to outperform our industry peers, by actively seeking to hire and promote more women into senior roles. We are confident our efforts will reflect a higher proportion of women in the workforce and in senior roles in the future.

All permanent employees in the UK are eligible for bonuses or commissions. However, the eligibility waiting period resulted in a ~2% gap between women and men receiving a bonus solely due to the different starting dates of employees. Over 3% of the men and over 2% of the women at Fisher UK were hired after 1 August 2022 and were ineligible for a bonus in November or December 2022, thus resulting in the short-term discrepancy. Notably, these permanent employees received a bonus in May or July 2023 that retroactively covered a performance period back to their original hire date.

In 2023, women comprised 40% of Fisher UK's Board of Directors. Our women directors serve in high-paying, senior management positions at the Fisher Group level outside the UK, but due to the regulations around data collection, their pay cannot be included in the below calculations.

Mean and median pay and bonus gap
	Mean (average)	Median (middle)
Gender pay gap	38.34%	18.33%
Gender bonus gap	52.83%	32.51%

Proportion of employees who received a bonus
Women	Men
96%	98%

Proportion of women and men in each quartile pay band
	Upper quartile (highest paid)	Upper middle quartile	Lower middle quartile	Lower quartile (lowest paid)
Women	19.23%	31.65%	34.62%	43.75%
Men	80.77%	68.35%	65.38%	56.25%

Commitment to Diversity & Inclusion

Fisher UK is committed to reducing the gender pay gap. We remain determined to improve gender balance across our business, striving to do what others in the Financial Services industry haven't. In addition, we continually seek to increase the representation of women in sales, financial advisory and senior roles.

That goal is central to the Fisher Group's commitment to continue to be an industry Diversity & Inclusion ("D&I") leader where people of all backgrounds, identities, religions and ethnicities can build lifelong careers at our organisation. This commitment is a key priority for Fisher Group senior leadership. In 2023, the Fisher Group continued enhancing our D&I programme with the support of our Head of D&I, D&I Team, D&I advisory firm and our Human Capital department. 2023 D&I programme progress includes continuing to foster a vibrant community amongst our employee resource groups (ERGs) and enhancing our D&I training initiatives for managers. The Fisher Group intends to continue developing new initiatives as part of our D&I programme as it matures.

We will continue building on the progress we have made improving our gender balance. Over time, we expect a better gender balance and lower gender pay gap—and that is a future we are committed to working towards.
